with Grant Cardone: Bestselling author, business guru \u0026 creator of the 10X Movement by Business

Leader 690 views 3 years ago 27 minutes - Here's what we discussed during the interview: - You used to be addicted to drugs – using daily – and you were brutally beaten up ...

You used to be addicted to drugs – using daily – and you were brutally beaten up, losing job after job. You had a tough start to life. What was the trigger that made you say enough was enough?

If you've been at the bottom and risen up – why can't everybody do this? What are the traits you need to turn your life around?

Can you talk more about this and the price you need to pay to have success and wealth and financial freedom? Everybody sees the wealth and spending I guess – but what price do you need to pay?

Some people may find the process of starting a business and building it from the ground up intimidating.

What would you do and what advice would you give to others?

You've said in the past that buying a home isn't a good investment. How do you see the current state of the housing market?

How did you deal with criticism and negativity in your rise to where you are today?

What would you say to people who would argue that creating wealth isn't a good thing and it should be dispersed instead?

What does the future hold for you? Continuing to inspire people or maybe a political career?

Trump vs. Biden; who do you think should win the election?

Has there been a particular person or book that has inspired you in your life?
